WHAT IS THE SHACKLETON FOUNDATION LEADERSHIP AWARD?

The Shackleton Foundation Leadership Award is early stage venture capital funding for social entrepreneurs. We invest in entrepreneurial ideas, inspirational projects and budding leaders with the power to make a difference. We provide up to £10,000 of seed funding and support to enable aspiring leaders and social entrepreneurs to establish their own ventures to help the disadvantaged and socially marginalised in society. We look for long-lasting, far-reaching projects with the potential to provide solutions to intractable social problems.

WHERE DOES THE FOUNDATION GET ITS MONEY FROM?

In October 2008, descendants of Sir Ernest Shackleton's original band of Antarctic explorers mounted an expedition to celebrate the centenary of the Nimrod Expedition. They succeeded in reaching the South Pole in January 2009, covering some 920 miles in the process, and in so doing, completed unfinished family business on behalf of their forebears. This expedition was The Shackleton Foundation's first major fundraising event, and was mounted to raise awareness of the Foundation.

2014 marks the centenary of Sir Ernest Shackleton's famed trans-Antarctic Endurance mission. The Shackleton Foundation is celebrating Shackleton's legacy of endurance and leadership by running the My Antarctic campaign. The Shackleton Foundation believes that, like Ernst Shackleton, everyone has an Antarctic. This is a personal challenge you have, something that maybe scares you, but a challenge you would also secretly love to conquer.

The 'My Antarctic' campaign invites you to take on a fear or personal challenge, whilst at the same time raising money for a great cause. Every single penny raised from every single challenge goes to provide funding for this generation of inspirational leaders, tackling some of the biggest problems in our society, from rehabilitating young offenders to inspiring young people to make the most of their lives.
